

Department of Chemical Engineering*Department Head, Chemical Engineering Department,
Virginia Tech

Applications are invited for the position of Professor and Head of the Department of Chemical Engineering at Virginia Tech to provide energetic leadership in a period of growth. The applicant must qualify for tenure at the rank of professor and should have achieved international distinction in university-level teaching and research and have a record of superior scholarship, administrative ability, and academic leadership. A doctorate in Chemical Engineering or closely related field is required. Interested persons should apply on-line at <https://www.jobs.vt.edu> (Posting #0122392). Applicants should include a curriculum vitae, a cover letter, a statement summarizing their vision for the Department and contact information for at least four individuals providing references.

Virginia Tech is an equal opportunity/affirmative action institution.