

The UNIVERSITY of OKLAHOMA

School of Chemical, Biological and Materials Engineering

FACULTY POSITIONS OPENING

Assistant Professors (Tenure-Track)

The School of Chemical, Biological and Materials Engineering (CBME) at The University of Oklahoma invites applications for 2 tenure track faculty positions at the Assistant Professor level with an expected starting date in Fall, 2017. CBME is well-known for its leadership in conventional energy, biofuels and colloids. Consistent with our current expertise, the School is seeking candidates possessing expertise with application to renewable energy, water treatment, air quality, and related processes as part of a larger University effort in these areas. Candidates must hold an earned doctorate in chemical engineering or closely related discipline. Salary will be commensurate with experience and qualifications.

Successful candidates will be committed to excellence in both research and education, and they will function effectively in a multidisciplinary research environment. CBME offers competitive startup packages, exciting opportunities for research collaboration, and a supportive environment for new faculty.

Candidates should send a resume, description of research plans, teaching and outreach interests, and names of three references to <https://apply.interfolio.com/37133> by clicking the "Apply Now For Free" button at the bottom of the page. Review of completed applications will begin on November 1, 2016 and will continue until candidates are selected and recommended for appointment.

The University of Oklahoma is a Carnegie-R1 comprehensive public research university known for excellence in teaching, research, and community engagement, serving the educational, cultural, economic and health-care needs of the state, region, and nation from three campuses: the main campus in Norman, the Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City, and the Schusterman Center in Tulsa. OU enrolls over 30,000 students and has more than 2,700 full-time faculty members. Norman is a culturally rich and vibrant town located in the Oklahoma City metro area.
